

With every day that passes, the state of the world presses itself on our consciousness with an ever more insistent urgency - war, terrorism, natural disaster, global warming, too many people, too many machines, too much inequality, too much information - all of it accelerating out of control.

But in all of the discussions and concern, who is talking about the biosphere?

The Second Planetary Congress of Biospheric Rights is an international gathering with an action-oriented agenda. The goal of the Congress is not only to define ourselves and our rights and responsibilities from the perspective of the biosphere, but to lay out plans and strategies for implementing action. The concern of the Congress is to not only keep the biosphere from being destroyed, but for its restoration as well.

To accomplish this requires a new social vision. This vision is encompassed by the noosphere, the next stage of the evolution of the terrestrial biosphere. As the Earth's "mental sheathe" the noosphere represents the breakthrough to a new consciousness, a new time and a new reality arising from the opportunity of the biospheric crisis.

Hosted by the Foundation for the Law of Time, the Second Planetary Congress of Biospheric Rights is a sequel to the First Congress held ten years ago in 1996, also in Brasilia. The only other major international event concerning the biosphere was sponsored by UNESCO in 1968. We believe that by understanding our biosphere as a whole system we will be able to make the radical next step to establish a genuine culture of peace, a biospheric culture on planet Earth - Pax Cultura - Pax Biospherica. It is not too late to make such a dream come true.

The Foundation for the Law of Time is dedicated to the promulgation of the Law of Time as a new system of knowledge for the reformulation of the human mind. Through its umbrella organization, the Planet Art Network, the Foundation sponsors the World Thirteen Moon Calendar Change Peace Movement and Peace Plan. The Foundation has two affiliates, the Foundation for the New Time, Japan, and the Institute for the Diffusion of the Law of Time, Brazil.

The biosphere is the unity of all of life and its support system. We humans are an integral part of this beautiful arrangement. Because we haven't understood how the biosphere works, our haphazard and relentless destruction of the environment has proceeded apace.

If we truly understood that we are all part of a single living system, from the plankton in the sea to the mossy tundra of the arctic, we might not be in such haste to take what we can without regard of the consequences. If we don't understand the whole and how it works, how can we really fix the parts? We know something is wrong - how do we make it right?

The global situation wouldn't be called a crisis if we didn't feel that we're running out of time. We have all heard of the year 2012. The Kyoto Protocol set that date as the first target for reduction of green house gas emissions. 2012 is also a prophetic date - it is the point of no return. If the human consciousness and its attitude towards the world - the biosphere - doesn't change dramatically by then, we shall forfeit the future of the human experiment on Earth. We can't wait until then. We must take concerted action now.

TO BE HELD AT:
